

POTTY POWER

Module 1.2

Why Potty Training Is Mandatory

Potty training is a rite of passage from baby to young child.

It's absolutely required and necessary for each and every child, even children who are on the spectrum.

I 1000% and wholeheartedly believe that children on the spectrum can be potty trained, no matter the severity and I make it my mission in my coaching practice to ensure this with my clients.

Now, if you're having doubts about your own child or thinking that Your child is going to be the exception

And it's not true.

It is possible and your child is capable.

A rite of passage for your child and it is for you too.

It does something for the parent mentally if you can't help your child with this rite of passage.

If you find yourself escaping a birthday party or event

Getting your child potty trained has amazing benefits.

Like alleviating the exhaustion you feel.
The stress you feel.

The disgust you chronically feel changing your child's grown up poop filled diaper.

Or maybe for you it's not having to gasp for air as you clean up the poop smeared walls.

And actually having you and your family enjoy functions and events without sneaking off to change a diaper.

And so much more.

Potty Training is mandatory is because it's part of what I call the Big 3. The Big 3 are the 3 skills every child on the spectrum needs to progress....

In a nutshell they are:

Problem Behavior Non existent or close to it

Communication

And you guessed it,
potty training

In this course we will solely be focusing on Potty Training.

Now that you know your child is capable of potty training and now that you know that it is a required skill that your child must have for an independent life, let's dive into the first Module.

See you over there!
